The tax rate adopted by the Board of Aldermen of the Village of Pleak did not trigger an election. A municipality with a population lower than 30,000 may calculate a de minimis rate that will result in taxes collected in an amount less than $500,000. Because the rate of 0.25 per $100 valuation did not rise to a rate that would result in taxes collected above the de minimis rate of $500,000, no election was required by state law.
